

SUCCESS OF RED CROSS CAMPAIGN IN LEE COUNTY RESTS ENTIRELY WITH PATRONS OF BIG CONCERTS

COMMITTEES HAVE COMPLETED THEIR WORK AND THE CANVASS OF THE COMMUNITIES IS OVER—HUNDREDS MORE OF TICKETS SHOULD HAVE BEEN SOLD, BUT REAL BOOSTERS WHO ARE WORKING FOR SUCCESS OF BENEFITS ARE PLEASED—PAULIST CHORISTERS WILL PRESENT GREAT PROGRAM AT 2:30 TOMORROW AFTERNOON AND 8 TOMORROW EVENING—DIXON PEOPLE URGED TO ATTEND AFTERNOON CONCERT IF POSSIBLE.

"FIGHT OR GIVE"—IS YOUR LAST OPPORTUNITY

"FIGHT OR GIVE." The last call is sounded for the people of Lee county to support the Red Cross by attending tomorrow afternoon's and evening's benefit concerts by the Paulist Choristers at Assembly Park. The admission is but 50 cents—an amount which everyone can surely afford. Dixon people are urged to attend in the afternoon if possible, as visitors from Lee county towns will undoubtedly fill the auditorium in the evening. A special price of 25 cents for children under 12 years of age is made for the afternoon concert only. In the evening the price will be 50 cents to everyone. The afternoon concert will begin at 2:30 o'clock; the evening program at 8 o'clock.

HUMANITY IS CALLING. WILL YOU ANSWER THE CALL?

The Red Cross body of Lee county, the members of the Knights of Columbus who graciously turned over their contract with the Paulist Choir for tomorrow's concerts, and the various committees who have worked so faithfully and well under the direction of General Chairman Charles E. Miller, have completed their preliminary work for the great benefit events of tomorrow afternoon and evening—and the issue now lies with the people of Dixon and Lee county. Whether the word shall go out over the state that this community has the feeling of humanity which it is evident prevails elsewhere in this country depends entirely on the people themselves. Tomorrow's great concerts by the greatest organization of its kind in the world affords an excellent opportunity for a demonstration of just how Dixon and Lee county folks view the Red Cross work. Many Tickets Sold. Partial reports by city canvassing committees made to Chairman Miller at the meeting at the city hall last evening indicate that many tickets have been sold in Dixon, but a careful analysis of the reports shows absolutely that not all the tickets were sold that could reasonably be expected for such a cause. The canvass will continue today, and in the meantime whole-hearted citizens who failed to see any of the solicitors can secure tickets at Campbell's drug store, Stratton & Covert's Dr. Z. W. Moss, James Haley, John or Kennedy's cigar stores. Tickets (Associated Press Leased Wire) Washington, July 27.—With recruiting week half gone, war department officials intimated today that the regular army is still more than 50,000 short. On the base of the returns so far, it is apparent there has been no general response among men of military age to President Wilson's call for 70,000 volunteers during the week.

SEEKING TO DOUBLE MEMBERSHIP DIXON CHAMBER COMMERCE

CAMPAIGN WILL CULMINATE IN BIG BANQUET AT ELKS' FRIDAY EVENING

JUDGE LANDIS WILL SPEAK

Federal Jurist Will Be Guest of Honor and Will Give An Address. The membership campaign which has been waged the past week by the Dixon Chamber of Commerce, thru which it is hoped to increase the enrollment in the organization to over 300, will culminate Friday evening with a big banquet at the Elks' club and an address there by Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis. The Chamber has sent out invitations to business and professional men of the city who are not members of the association to attend the banquet at 6:30 Friday evening and incidentally to become members of the organization which is continually on the watch for Dixon's welfare. There are no w150 members affiliated with the organization, but it is felt that with a nominal membership fee of but $5 and the field there is in this city, the Dixon Chamber of Commerce should boast of at least 300 members. It is hoped this number can be reached Friday evening.

Judge Landis a Booster. The house committee of the Elks lodge, which has charge of the arrangements for the banquet, is preparing a meal of exceptionally appealing variety and the inner man is sure to be well taken care of. The treat of the evening, however, will be the address by Federal Judge Landis. There is no bigger man in America today than the famous jurist. His ideas are always good, he is not afraid to state them, and it is sure he will have a "boosting" message for Dixon business men Friday evening.

The attending surgeon pronounced the operation successful but announced the patient's heart gave out under the shock.

DIXON MEN ARE NAMED BOARD OF EXEMPTIONS

HENRY S. DIXON, GEO. B. SHAW, DR. E. B. OWENS WILL HEAR PLEAS.

HAVE RECEIVED NO RULES

Appointment Comes As Surprise To Them—Expect Instructions In Near Future.

President Wilson late yesterday afternoon named as the exemption board for Lee county in the selective draft for the new army, the following men, all from Dixon:

HENRY S. DIXON, GEORGE B. SHAW, DR. EDMUND B. OWENS.

The appointment of these men to hear the pleas for exemption of the young men who may be drafted from the registration list of June 5 was made known in an Associated Press dispatch to the Telegraph at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Will Hear All Cases.

These men will hear all cases for exemption from those who may be selected from the county, while Dr. Owens will examine those who claim exemption because of physical disability.

The members of the board have not received any instructions or rules concerning their duties, but expect them early next week as it announced in Washington the draft of the army will positively start July 1, if not the latter part of next week.

Surprise To All.

Their appointment to the position is a surprise to each of the men, for none of them had any intimation they were to be named until the president made the appointments.

And since they have received no instructions from the war department they are unable to state what will be grounds for exemption. However, it is believed the following grounds will be accepted by the war department:

Physical Incapacity—Crippled persons and those having heart disease, flat feet, eye diseases or derangement, tuberculosis, cancer, serious affection of kidneys or liver, varicose veins, infectious blood diseases.

Employment in Vital War Industries—Shipbuilding, munitions, gun factories, navy yards, oil fields, coal mines, etc.

Religious Belief—Those who prior to March 15, were members of a religious faith which is opposed to war. Men who are sole supports of families.

Don't Leave Dixon Until You've Been Here

KEYES AHRENS OGDEN CO.Hot Weather Furniture

Summer is a delightful time if one only is equipped to take advantage of the splendid, healthful, invigorating out-door air; a little money spent for OUTSIDE furnishings brings BIG returns in health and pleasure.

A NECESSITY AND ECONOMY

A good refrigerator not only pays for itself, but it pays the ice bill and returns you good hard cash in the actual SAVING of good food. Don't go through another summer without the comfort and the economy of an "AUTOMATIC" refrigerator, the kind in which you can keep the most odorous foods such as fruit, fish and even onions or strawberries, and also keep the butter, milk and cream sweet without taint. It's positively WASTEFUL to keep house without an "Automatic" and they aren't expensive, either. Step in and let us show you.

Here's an example of what you may find here in the way of good canvas swings. We show several styles and you may have one complete with stand and canopy or get just the swing and hang it on the porch where there's cooling breezes—ONE season's use will repay the cost and really after using one a week you wouldn't be without it under any consideration.

RUGS

There are more choice rugs here than you ever saw in one store and while you will find every size and any kind of splendid rugs for every room of your home, we are featuring just now the rugs that essentially are SUMMER RUGS—Congo-rugs that won't soil—handsome as Wilton rugs but are the kind you can wash off if the children spill milk or grease on, dainty rugs of fibre with design of the highest class, yet very low in price, and the almost indestructible grass rugs, ideal for hallways, bedrooms and porches.

Dainty Summer Draperies

that make a room a haven of restful coolness on a hot day, dainty blues and yellows, dull soft rose and greens, in goods that are very inexpensive and add so greatly to Summer comfort for the artistically inclined.

There's No Dull Season in This Store.

Things are as busy here in the Hot Summer Months as any other time in the year. Just now in addition to lots of regular trade we're selling a lot of newly married folks their housekeeping outfits.

"HOOSIER" KITCHEN CABINETS

"WAY" SAGLESS SPRINGS

Now showing the most attractively restful, cool, inviting furniture in Willow and Fibre Rush and upholstered in rich tapestries and dainty cretonnes, furniture suited to tea rooms and sun parlors as well as porches and so effective in style you'll use it in the house when Summer's over. Splendid rockers from $3.90 up and arm chairs, couches, swings, sofas, ferneries, tables and pretty odd pieces at prices so reasonable you'll likely choose several pieces.

Make it a Living Room

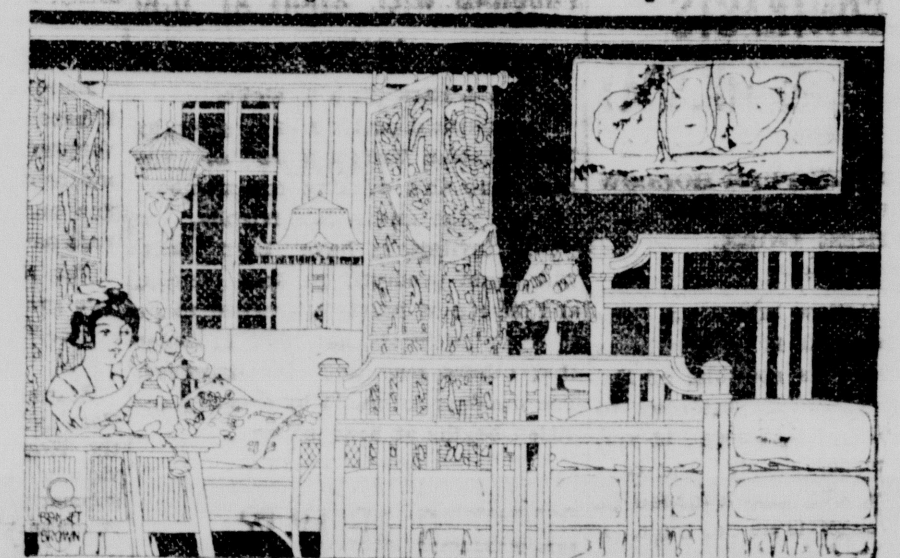

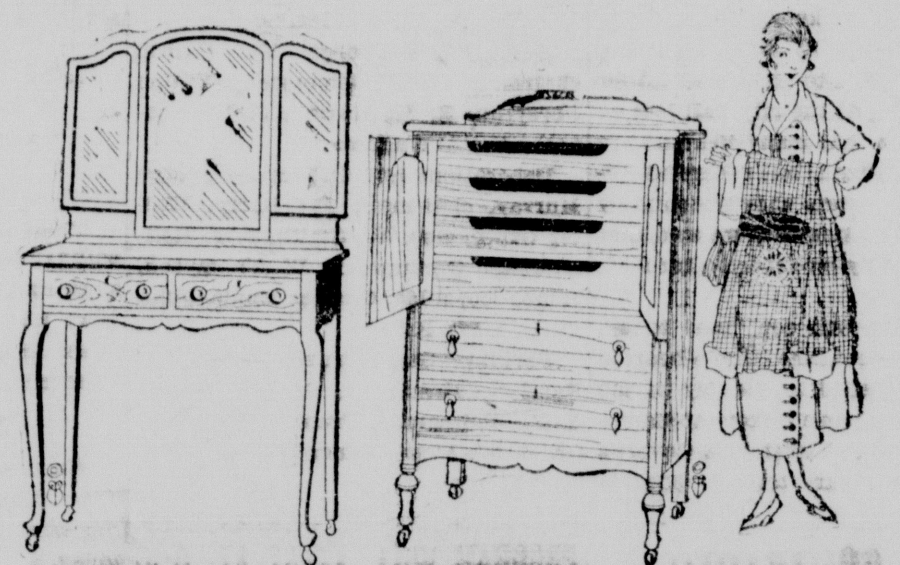

Abandon that "parlor" idea---have a comfortable, pleasant home-like living room--the kind that makes the men want to get into their house slippers and stay at home at night.

We show a remarkable variety of styles in splendid davenports, pretty odd chairs and rockers and no end of different things in good tables from the very small to extremely large ones and all of the different kinds, too; massive heavy affairs and lighter, daintier effects, in fact, no matter how particular or how critical you may be we want to show you how well we can suit your particular fancy.

This store is filled with all kinds of beautiful and practical home furnishings that are sold at wonderfully low prices and you should come in and let us show you how well you can do here.

Just now we are selling a lot of dainty toilet tables at special prices, and there's a lot of chiffonieres that also are offered much less than the real worth.

Some very dainty bedroom furniture in ivory enamel and birdseye maple at figures you will find it impossible to duplicate.

Five Nurses Receive Diplomas

Five graduate nurses—Zaida
Jones, Olive Guthrie, Jessie Burtsfield, Neva Phelps, and Eleanor New-men—received their diplomas from the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital
Tuesday evening. Rev. Mr. Klontz of Polo gave the address of the evening, speaking of the large field of labor for the trained nurse and of the nobility of the profession, and also presented the diplomas. The program opened with an invocation
by Rev. A. J. Holland, Dr. and Mrs.
Willard Thompson followed with a duet, "In Garden of Roses", and the North Dixon School orchestra gave several selections.

After an introduction by Dr. Holland, Mr. Klontz spoke,—his topic,
"The Imperial Hour". Although accenting the greatness of the present golden age, the future was not belit-tled and in it he saw greater things accomplished, more wonderful inventions as yet scarce dreamed.
High tribute was paid to the profession of nursing and praise bestowed upon those who choose a self-sacrificing career and upon those who made the training course for nurses a possibility,—the hospital board and the patrons.

Mrs. George Boynton, president of the hospital board, presented the graduates each with the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital pin.

Visited Old Home

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hodgedos were here from St. Louis as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Blinn Smith the past four days, leaving Dixon Tuesday for Chicago where they will an old soldier, having enlisted when but nineteen years of age. He is at present but seventy-five. While here a number of drives were taken to Grand Detour, Oregon, and other points of interest, and as Mr. Hodge-dos was a former Lee County boy, he found much to interest him. The Taft soldiers monument at Oregon interested him greatly as he enlisted with an Oregon company, although, as a resident of Lee County, his name is not on the monument.

DRAWING PEOPLE TO FARMS

To promote the back to the farm movement, the Farm Settlement Board of New Brunswick is displaying motion pictures of interesting phases of life on the farm. In this country working people are implored to go back on the land and raise food but they are slow to do so.

The majority of city people look upon farm life with horror. They may be living in some dirty, crowded tenement. Country life might be cheaper, healthier, more comfortable, but existence under the stars and wide spaces of the sky would be horribly lonesome to them.

They miss the companionship of crowded streets. They like the stir and motion of it. They enjoy the gossip with neighbors. There is always something doing. Encounters with the police, street fights, the rattle of the hurdy gurdy, the cries of street vendors, the mischief of the kids, all these and a thousand other incidents make slum life pleasant to people who always lived in it.

It would seem as if under the present conditions the money motive must have some effect. Farm labor brings better wages than formerly. Farm abounds get high-priced vegetables for nothing; it costs them little for clothes and unless they are spendthrifts they and their families can have money in the bank at the end of the year.

Land is high, yet somehow foreigners manage to get farms of their own. They rent a little piece of land on shares, sell half their crop for good prices and in a few years they are ready to take a farm on a mortgage. It is a good position for thousands of families. The movies and all other forms of publicity ought to be used to make it interesting.

HOBSON SPEAKS FOR A NAVY

We have advocated for some time the expenditure of a billion dollars on an improved navy. Another, better known, and with greater right, now stresses the need of the U. S. for a more powerful navy.

Capt. Hobson, who performed the task of blockading Santiago, speaks with authority and his words deserve respect. He quotes the British official boast that by the end of the war the British navy will be larger than the combined navies of the world. He makes known the British official statement that dreadnaughts are building in England in preference to merchant ships and remarks upon the strangeness of such action if there is a necessity for wooden ships go as to require America to donate thousands of them to the allied cause.

Capt. Hobson recommends the purchase of a billion dollars worth of British warships in return for our merchant ships. He is frankly afraid of the motive behind a British war fleet greater than the combined fleets of the world. He fears that the vast tonnage may be used to coerce the United States at the peace conference if American ideals conflict with the British desire.

We think he is right in desiring a larger fleet for the U. S. and agree with him that if either America or England must postpone the building of battleships in order to save the allies from starving it ought to be the latter whose fleet by her own statement will soon be greater than that of America, Germany, Japan, France, Austria, Russia and all the nations of the world combined.

LENS BEING CUT OFF BY BRITISH

Paris, June 27.—Canadian troops entered the village of La Coulotte. The Germans have withdrawn in this neighborhood from a line about one and three-quarters miles long.

The German retirement ceased during the night. Patrols sent out opposite Mericourt and to the south found the enemy's front line strongly held. The Germans have made huge craters at all crossroads in Avion and leading toward Lens. These craters did not exist forty-eight hours before.

Claim French Ejected.

Berlin, June 27.—French troops, which penetrated the Germin lines northwest of Hurbise on the Aisne front, were subjected to a counterattack and were ejected from the greater part of the positions they had occupied, army headquarters announces. Great quantities of ammunition are being expended by Crown Prince Rupprecht (the British front in Belgium and northern France) the statement declares.

Allies Tighten Net on City.

Paris, June 27.—The British are closing in about Lens. After the capture on Sunday of Fosse 3 and enemy trenches, west from the hill, and from the lines immediately south of the Souchez river, several new positions have been occupied in this region nearer Lens.

Patrols are advancing across the plains in an easterly direction. Thus the great mining center is being slowly encircled. For weeks Lens has not been exploited economically by the Germans and now it is directly menaced by the military.

Canadians Win Important Ground.

In their general advance on Lens the Canadians have occupied the strongest outpost in the defense of that place and have pushed their troops toward La Coulotte, one mile south of Lens. The increasing pressure on the enemy in the Souchez valley in the last few weeks has brought signal success to the British arms with relatively slight loss.

Patrols reached the summit of reservoir hill without opposition and pushed on down the eastern slope and the strong Lens outpost was effectively occupied. Meanwhile south of the Souchez river the Canadians drove forward on the heels of the retiring Germans. Railway embankments east of Lens electric station were occupied. The advance was then continued toward La Coulotte. As night fell strong parties were sent out to consolidate the positions occupied, while patrols were sent forward to keep in touch with the Germans.

Germans Destroying Houses.

Several days ago the Germans were known to be destroying houses in the western part of Lens with the object of giving a wide area of fire for their guns. That may indicate the intention of clinging to the eastern side of the city and prolonging the struggle by house to house fighting.

ILLINOIS WHEAT BAD; POTATOES ARE GOOD

Cold Wet Weather Has Held Crops Back.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., June 27. On account of the cold wet weather and lack of cultivation, the corn crop of Illinois is backward, according to the crop report issued by the state board of agriculture. The condition of the crop on June 20, was eighty per cent of normal, which is five points less than on the same date last year. Southern Illinois reports the crop seventy-nine per cent of normal.

The condition of the winter wheat is sixty per cent of normal, while spring wheat, of which a very little is raised in the central and southern parts of the state, is ninety-five per cent normal. Oats are in good condition. Reports show that there is an increase of twenty per cent in the area devoted to Irish potatoes this year and the crop promises to be good. Pastures and meadows are in good shape.

BANISH WHISKY, BEER IN DANGER

Senate Committee Acts on Food Control Bill.

WILSON TO CONTROL BREWING

President Is Also Given Power to Seize Spirits in Bond for Redistillation—Personal Liberty Men and Revenue Champions Oppose Measure—Home Free in Lever Bill.

Washington, June 27.—Absolute prohibition of the manufacture of distilled spirits during the war and placing in the President's hands the question of permitting the making of beer and wine was agreed upon by a senate agriculture subcommittee in framing a substitute for the prohibition feature of the house food control bill.

It also was decided to forbid importations of distilled spirits and to authorize the President to seize liquor now held in bond if needed for redistilling purposes.

222,000,000 Gallons in Bond.

The President is directed by the latter provision to take all existing whisky and hard spirits in bond and redistill them. He shall pay for the spirits. If the owner is dissatisfied by the price set by the government, he can accept this and sue for the remainder. It is calculated that there are some 222,000,000 gallons of spirits in bond. The taxes upon this, which the government expected to derive for the war revenue bill would bring the total close to $500,000,000.

"The sentiment of the subcommittee was overwhelmingly in favor of prohibition," said Senator Gore, the chairman, "there were but two against it. The committee seemed unwilling to prohibit the manufacture of spirits and allow the President to make exception of the others as had been proposed at times. This exception would have concerned the limitation of foodstuffs in the manufacture of wine and beer.

"There were three propositions before the committee. The first was a flat prohibition similar to that in the house bill. The second would forbid the use of foodstuffs in distilled spirits for beverage purposes and allow the President to make exceptions of foodstuffs in malt and vinous liquors. The third would be a flat prohibition against the use of foodstuffs and giving the President power to make exceptions in emergencies.

"I think the bill as it will pass. There may be one unconstitutional section. This is the one that forbids conspiracies of trade within the borders of states. I do not know if purely local conspiracies can be regulated by the federal government."

Personal Liberty, Revenue, Obstacles.

Two influences are expected to work against the prohibition section placed in the bill. One of these is the sentiment of various men that the law abiding man who "takes a drink" shall not be interfered with in that privilege. The other is the loss of immense revenue.

Liquor men here said that the whisky interests had more than $600,000,000 invested in property aside from the value of the product and that 150,000 people were dependent upon the industry. It was also calculated that there are more than 50,000,000 barrels of beer and that more than 1,000,000 persons are dependent upon this industry. Litigation is planned by the liquor interests.

Changes Made in Food Bill.

While prohibition overshadowed any other aspect of the food control bill, some important changes were made in the main measures. The scope of the measure was broadened in the "necessities" over which the President through Mr. Hoover will have control, were included petroleum, farm implements and machinery, binder twine, fertilizer, iron and steel and copper, as well as containers for food and fuel. The committee thought these all indispensable to the national interests.

It was also decided to amend the bill so that it shall specifically state that the bill shall not apply to the products of farmers, stock raisers and gardeners. Another amendment removes the much debated idea that the food administration shall stipulate what people shall and shall not eat.

Washington, June 27.—The American Red Cross war relief fund had been swelled to $114,000,000 by late returns received by Chairman Henry P. Davison of the Red Cross war council.

OLDSMOBILE prestige is an asset to every owner of an Oldsmobile. It really means something to own the car that has been the "Master pattern" for all automobiles since the very dawn of the day of motor cars.

Add to this the remarkably flexible power of these cars—their ultra-rich appointments—their long sweeping lines, "as graceful as a greyhound"—their masterful construction in each detail, and you have the car to express your motor car standing in your community.

Consider also this—you are protested for twelve months when you buy an Oldsmobile. The strength of our guarantee is as famous as the prestige of our cars. Furthermore, we provide definite service in the form of a coupon book containing coupons for fifty-two hours of service. These coupons are accepted by any of the twelve OLDSMOBILE service stations located at convenient points in Chicago.

Let us demonstrate any of these models to you. Let us figure on any car you may wish to exchange in part payment for a new Oldsmobile. Be sure to do this before July 1st. Why not today?

Ward puts it up to each man to get $200 in one day. Munroe makes $12 as a laborer. Johnny gambles and gets $220.

Ward astounds the party by telling how, by shrewd business deals in one day in the Golden City, he accumulated several thousand dollars.

Ward decides that he will not go with the party to the mines, but will stay in San Francisco, where he thinks more gold is to be found.

The party dig their first gold. They are not much discouraged when told that the value of their first pan is 12 cents.

Don Gaspar, a Spaniard, and his manservant Vasquez join forces with the trio and the gold is divided into five parts.

After working like beavers several days the miners decide to take a day off and attend a miners' meeting in town.

For $15 a week in gold and a drink of whiskey twice a day, Vasquez promises to lead the party to a rich, unexplored mining country.

A band of Indians come into the camp to trade. They are thankful for blankets. Later the Indians attempt an ambush, but are routed by rifle shots.

McNally is found with group of traders. Vasquez, left in charge of camp, is found scalped by the red men.

CHAPTER XXIV.

The Last Straw.

THE sun was high when we awoke. We were not feeling very fresh, to say the least, and we took some little time to get straightened around. Then we went down to the Morena cabin.

I am not going to dwell on what we found there. All four of its inmates had been killed with buckshot and the place ransacked from end to end. Apparently the first volley had killed our former partners and Señora Morena as they lay. Morena had staggered to his feet and halfway across the room.

The excitement caused by this frightful crime was intense. Every man quit work. A great crowd assembled. Morton as sheriff was very busy, and loud threats were uttered by his satellites as to the apprehension of the murderers. The temper of the crowd, however, was sullen. No man dared trust his neighbor, and yet every honest breast swelled with impotent indignation at this wholesale and unprovoked massacre. No clue was possible. Everybody remembered, of course, how broad and publicly the fact of the gold had been scattered. Nobody dared utter his suspicions if he had any.

The victims were buried by a large concourse that eddied and hesitated and muttered long after the graves had been filled in. Vaguely it was felt that the condition of affairs was intolerable, but no one knew how it was to be remedied. Nothing definite could be proved against any one, and yet I believe that every honest man knew to a moral certainty at least the captains and instigators of the various outrages. A leader could have raised an avenging mob, provided he could have survived the necessary ten minutes!

We scattered at last to our various occupations. I was too much upset to work, so I returned to where Yank was smoking over the fire. He had, as near as I can remember, said not one word since the discovery of the tragedy. On my approach he took his pipe from his mouth.

"Nothing done?" he inquired.

"Nothing," I replied. "What is there to be done?"

"Don't know," said he, replacing his pipe; then around the stem of it, "I was fond of those people."

"So was I," I agreed sincerely. "Have you thought what a lucky escape you yourself had?"

Yank nodded. We sat for a long time in silence. My thoughts turned slowly and sullenly in a heavy, impotent anger. A small bird chirped plaintively from the thicket near at hand. Except for the tinkle of our little stream and the muffled roar of the distant river, this was the only sound to strike across the dead black silence of the autumn night. So persistently did the bird utter its single call that at last it aroused even my downcast attention, so that I remarked on it carelessly to Yank. I came out of his brown study and raised his head.

"It's no bird; it's a human," he said after listening a moment. "That's a signal. Go see what it is. Just wander out carelessly."

In the depths of the thicket I found a human figure crouched. It glided to me, and I made out dimly the squat form of Pete, Barnes' negro slave, from the hotel.

"Lo-dee, massa," whispered he, "done thought you nevald would come."

"What is it, Pete?" I asked in the same guarded tones.

"I done got somethin' to tell you, while I ketchin' a lil' bit of sleep 'longside that white trash Moton's place I done heah dey all plannin' to git out warrant for to arrest Massa Fairfax and Massa Pine and Massa Ma'sh for a-killin' dem men las' week, and I heah dem say dey gwine for to gib dem trial, and if dey fight dey gwine done shoot 'em."

"That is serious news, Pete," said I. "Who were talking? But Pete, who was already frightened half to death, grew suddenly cautious.

"I don't jest rightly know, sah," he said sullenly. "I couldn't tell. Jes' Massa Moton. He say he gwine sewar in good big posse."

"I can believe that," said I thoughtfully. "Pete," I turned on him suddenly, "don't you know they'd skin you alive if they found out you'd been here?"

Pete was shaking violently, and at my words a strong shudder went through his frame, and his teeth struck faintly together.

"Why did you do it?"

"Massa Fairfax is quality, sah," he replied with a certain dignity. "I jest a pore nigger, but I knows quality when I sees it, and I don't aim to have no pore white truck kill none of my folks if I can help it."

"Pete," said I, fully satisfied, "you are a good fellow. Now get along back."

He disappeared before the words were fairly out of my mouth.

"Yank," I announced, returning to the fire. "I've got to go uptown. That was Pete, Barnes' nigger, to say that they've got out a legal warrant for the express messengers' arrest for that killing last week. Neat little scheme."

I found Danny Randall in his accustomed place. At a hint he sent for Dr. Rankin. To the two I unfolded the plot. Both listened in silence until I had quite finished. Then Danny leaped to his feet and hit the table with his closed fist.

"The fools!" he cried. "I gave them credit for more sense. Hit at Danny Randall's men, will they? Well, they'll find that Danny Randall can protect his own! Forgotten that little point, have they?"

The cool, impassive, mild little man had changed utterly. His teeth bared, the muscles of his cheeks tightened, two deep furrows appeared between his eyes, which sparkled and danced. From the most inoffensive looking creature possible to imagine he had become suddenly menacing and dangerous.

"What do you intend, Randall?" asked Dr. Rankin. He was leaning slightly forward, and he spoke in a gentle voice, but his hand was clenched on the table, and his figure was rigid.

"Do?" repeated Randall fiercely. "Why, run that gang out of town, of course!"

"I thought you said the time was not ripe?"

"Well, ripen it!" said Danny Randall.

Danny Randall issued his orders as a general would. First he sent warning word to Cal Marsh, still nursing his shoulder. Through one of his barkeepers he caused to be called to his presence four men. Three of them were miners, the fourth a lookout at the Empire. He met them in his little room quite openly, which, as I have explained, was in accordance with his usual custom. He detailed the exact situation in a few words.

"Now," he ended, "we get busy. Are you fit?"

Each assented, with apparent deep satisfaction.

"Now," said he briskly, "Munroe, you go to the lower trail, near the big oak at the second crossing. Wait there. If the express messengers have not passed by tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock return here. If they do come by stop them and tell them to proceed by the cut off to the place they know of and to wait there for me. Understand?"

To each of the other four men he assigned a different watching on other trails, giving them the same instructions.

"Now git!" he finished.

After informing Yank of my projected absence I waited at the appointed place until the appointed time, then returned to the Bella Union.

"That's all right," Danny greeted my report. "All came across the Hog's Back and are now safely in hiding. Here—he gave me a slip of paper—"

"during the day contrive to see these men. Make it casual and easy, as though you just happened to see them. Chat a few minutes and tell them this: 'Danny Randall calls a secret miners' meeting at the upper horse flat at 9 o'clock tonight. Slip up there without being seen.' Be sure to let them understand that it is I who am issuing the call. Get them to tell you whether they will or will not come."

I took the slip of paper and read over the half dozen names it contained.

"If dey fight dey gwine done shoot 'em."

ed. They were all known to me; so I nodded my comprehension and went out.

All the rest of the day I loafed about, chatting with dozens of people, among the others with Morton himself. That individual professed great zeal for law and order, and told of the wonderful things he, as sheriff, intended to accomplish. Among the lot I contrived to include the six men whose names were on my paper, and to deliver my message. I explained as far as I knew, and got from each a definite and emphatic promise to be present.

"It's time this thing was brought to a head," said one man. "If Danny Randall is taking hold of it I enlist."

I returned to report these facts, received an indifferent nod, and, under further instruction, went quietly to camp to await the agreed hour.

We started up the trail about 8 o'clock. Yank insisted that he was going, if he had to roll all the way, but after a little we simultaneously remembered that the Morenas had owned horses. One of these I caught, and on it Yank rode to the place of rendezvous.

The night was very black. After we had entered the woods its darkness seemed at first to hang in front of my eyes like a filmy curtain, so that I faintly groped, as one would in a blindfold.

At the Flat Rock we were halted by a low voiced command. I gave the password, as instructed by Danny Randall. This experience was once repeated, a little farther on. Then, as we neared the upper horse flat, we were stopped by a man who flashed a dark lantern in our faces, scrutinized us for a moment, shut off his light and told us to go forward.

We found a small fire behind a screen of firs and around or near it the figures of a dozen men. They stood silent and scattered a little apart from the firelight. We could not make out their features. From time to time other men came in, singly or in couples, until probably twenty-five were gathered. Then ensued a few moments of waiting. A sudden stir proclaimed fresh arrivals, and four newcomers strode briskly to the fire. As the light fell on them I recognized Randall and the three express riders.

Danny kicked together the fire until it flared.

"Somebody put some more wood on this," he said in his natural voice. "We've got to see each other."

In a moment the flames were leaping. I looked about me with considerable interest to see who of the camp had been summoned. I must confess to a few surprises, such as the gambler from the Empire, but in general the gathering consisted of those whom I should have characterized as solid citizens—Barnes, the hotel keeper; Himmelwright and men of his stripe. They were all armed and all very grave and sober. Danny ran his eye over us one by one.

"Meeting come to order," he commanded briskly. "This is a vigilante meeting. I hope you all realize what that means. There are just thirty of us here, and Morton's gang is probably a hundred strong when it is all together. We cannot fight them, but we can give the honest, decent men of this camp a chance to fight them. I myself believe the honest men will back us and am willing to risk it. If any of you who are here now think differently say so."

He paused, but no one spoke up.

"If anybody doesn't want to go into this now is the time to back out. Just keep your mouths shut; that is all."

He paused again, but again no one moved.

"That's all right," observed Danny, with satisfaction. He lifted a paper. "Listen to this: 'We, the undersigned, agree, as we are decent men, to stand by each other to the last, to avenge the death of any one of us and to obey the orders of our leaders. And if we fail in this may God deny us mercy.' Boys," said Danny Randall earnestly, "this is serious. If we start this now we've got to see it through. We are not much on Bible oaths, any one of us, but we must promise. Frank Munroe, step forward!"

One by one Danny Randall called us forward and administered his simple oath. The fire leaped and with it the mighty shadows. Outside the circle of light the tall pines and fir trees watched us like a multitude standing witness. The men's faces were grave. There was about the roughest of them something noble, reflected from the earnest spirit of justice.

Randall had the plans all made, and he detailed them rapidly. We were to arrest four men only, and he named them—Morton, Scarface Charley, who had recovered; a gambler named Catlin and Jules, the proprietor of the Empire.

"Crawford is back in town," said some one.

"Make it five then," said Danny instantly.

Next came up the vital questions of ways and means. Many were in favor of a night surprise and an immediate hanging before the desperadoes could be organized for defense. Danny had a hard time showing them good reasons against this course, but at last he succeeded.

"This must be done deliberately and publicly," he maintained. "Otherwise it fails of its effect. We've got to show the gang that the camp is against them, and that won't be done by hanging some of them secretly."

"Suppose the camp doesn't back us up?" queried a miner.

"Remember your oath, gentlemen," was Danny's only reply to this.

It was decided at last that five committees should be appointed to arrest each of the five men, that the prisoners should be confined in a certain isolated log cabin and that the execution should take place in broad daylight. There remained only to apportion the committees. This was done, and at about 2 or 3 o'clock we quietly dispersed. I was instructed to co-operate with three of the miners in the arrest of Catlin.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

To the Honorable Chairman and Members of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Lee:

The undersigned, the road and bridge committee of said board of supervisors, to whom was referred the petition of the commissioners of highways of the town of East Grove for county aid for the building of a certain bridge over the Green river in section four (4) in said town of East Grove, report as follows, to-wit:

That said town of East Grove is responsible for two-thirds of the cost of construction thereof; that the town of Marion is responsible for one-third of the cost of said construction; that the total cost of construction will be about six thousand dollars, making the share for which the town of East Grove is responsible the sum of four thousand dollars.

We find that the said town of East Grove has raised its one-half of said amount for which it is responsible, or the sum of two thousand dollars; that it is legal and proper that the county of Lee should appropriate the remaining two thousand dollars for said purposes and that the prayer of said petition should be granted. We therefore recommend that there be appropriated from the county treasury of said county of Lee, one-half of the amount of the construction of said bridge which said town of East Grove is responsible for, to-wit the sum of two thousand dollars.

Which said report and petition is in the words and figures following:

Dixon, Ill., June 13, 1917.

To the Board of Supervisors, Gentlemen:

Your road and bridge committee would report, in reference to the petition of the town of Hamilton for county aid to pay one-half its share of the cost of constructing the John P Miller bridge on the county line between the town of Hamilton, Lee county, and the town of Hahnman, Whiteside county, that it recommends the granting of county aid as so requested.

State of Illinois, County of Lee, Town of Hamilton, ss.

To the Board of Supervisors of Lee County, Illinois:

The undersigned commissioners of highways of the town of Hamilton in said county, would respectfully represent that a bridge needs to be erected over the lower Winnebago drainage ditch where the same is crossed by the highway between Section No 1 Hahnman twp Whiteside Co, and Sec No 7 Hamilton township, Lee Co, being on the west boundary of said town, for which said work the town of Hamilton is responsible to the extent of 50%, that the total cost of said work will be $2000, which sum will be more than 12 cents on the one hundred dollars valuation on the latest assessment roll of said town, and the levy for the road and bridge tax for the two years last past in said town was in each year for the full amount allowed by law to be raised for all road and bridge purposes, except for laying out, altering, widening or vacating roads, the major part of which levy is needed for the ordinary repair of roads and bridges.

Wherefore, the said commissioners of highways hereby petition you for aid and for an appropriation from the county treasury of a sum sufficient to meet one-half the expenses of Hamilton town's share of said bridge or other work, said town being prepared to furnish the other half of the amount required.

This Dixon woman has used Doan's Kidney Pills

She has found them as representative.

She wishes her neighbors to know She publicly recommends them.

No need to look further for a test ed kidney remedy.

The proof of merit is here and can be investigated.

Profit by the statement of Mrs. J. L. Fine of 1006 Peoria Ave. She gave the following statement in January, 1915: "I have suffered for a number of years with kidney trouble. My back has sometimes ached and pained so badly I have had to stay in bed and have hardly been able to turn over. I have had headaches and dizzy spells and black specks have appeared before me. My wrists and ankles have been swollen When I have had one of these attacks, I have bought Doan's Kidney Pills at Prescott & Schildberg's Drug Store. They have always helped me. I have relied on Doan's Kidney Pills for the last fifteen years and they have never failed to give satisfaction."

On April 30, 1917 Mrs. Fine said: "I never use Doan's Kidney Pills but what they help me. Whenever my kidney need regulating, Doan's are what I take."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Fine has twice publicly recommended. Foster-McBurn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

We, the undersigned commissioners of highways in the town of Hamilton, county aforesaid, hereby state that we have made a careful estimate of the probable cost of the above proposed bridge, and that the same will probably cost $2000.

Also that it is proposed that the said town of Hamilton & Hahnman join share and share alike in the construction of said bridge; and the "county aid" herein sought is for one-half of Hamilton's share or 1/4 of

"Not a Cent For Tribute."

The saying "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute" is attributed to General Pinckney, who was minister to France in the early part of this century. History says that when General Pinckney was informed that the payment of a certain sum might settle the diplomatic suit then existing between France and the United States he indignantly replied, "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute!"

It is said, however, that long afterward, upon the general being asked by members of a club to which he belonged whether he had ever made such a remark, he replied, "No; my answer was not a flourish like that, but simply, 'Not a penny, not a penny!'"

"Lid Case" in Supreme Court.
Washington, June 27.—Chicago's celebrated Sunday closing case came to the supreme court with a petition in behalf of the city's saloonkeepers for a review of the state court's decision which upheld the Sunday closing law. Unconstitutionality is the chief ground given in the petition.

The Golden Warriors

Mark where our legions bled
Kaiser, our power behold!
Two billion warriors have we,
Some green clad, some in gold.

Nay, more! O king whose aires
Turned faith into a cloud,
These are two billion altar fires—
Two billion eyes of God!

Yea, king whose madness stripped
The sweet, clean flesh of youth,
Here are two billion arrows tipped
With the hot barb of truth!

Yet every edon a sword—
Sharper than steel swords be—
Forged in the white flame of the Lord
For his child, Liberty.

O trinity, your aim
The earlier three well knew:
The sword, the arrow and the flame,
Freedom, are one in you!

All four after shall fleet
When, golden in the air,
One hundred million eagles meet
The sable buzzard pair.

Defeated, deviled, dazed,
Hear you across the surge
Two billion golden voices raised,
O Kaiser, in your dirge?

Goliath, babes among,
The golden stones are sped,
By all the nation's David flung
To strike you, giant, dead!

CORNMEAL NUTRITIOUS,
SAYS OHIO FOOD EXPERT

Points Out That Lee's Army Lived Weeks Before Appomattox on This Product.

Two things the American table provider must learn—variety and substitution. This is the statement of B. H. Kroger of Cincinnati, the man who buys more foodstuffs in Ohio than all the hotels in the state combined. The average menu, he says, is too monotonous and too costly.

"Because of the monotony it creates waste, and just now that is criminal," he says. "The trouble is that Americans don't care enough about their meals. They don't plan them, although nutrition is one of the essentials of existence. Some erroneously think it a form of gluttony to consider in advance what they are going to eat."

"Eat cornmeal in quantities," he says. "But get interested enough to secure the right kind of meal, because there's a wide difference. The coarsest is the best for most purposes. But that's only one dish. The same rule applies to all others. The man who is indifferent to food is hit the hardest by its cost. Get acquainted with the business of keeping yourself alive through the function of feeding. It pays."

The fact that Lee's armies lived on parched corn virtually for weeks before Appomattox shows how nutritious that cereal really is. The red Indians subsisted through the long winters largely upon coarse cornmeal, ground in rude mortars with rudimentary pestles. They boiled it and baked it and sometimes made cakes of it. They never knew the meaning of auto-intoxication because their digestive apparatus functioned properly through the assistance given by this foodstuff.

It is one of the confounding signs of the times that Americans, with a vast store of this foodstuff, the cheapest in the world, too, at their very doors, permit themselves actually to suffer. In Italy the common people eat it in vast quantities, polenta, or cornmeal mush, being really the national dish and not spaghetti. They have a hundred ways of utilizing it and have devised endless combinations with other food material. Hog and hominy sustained the pioneers in this country who won the west from the wilderness. Physicians say that when the American people return to making it a part of their daily ration a large percentage of stomach trouble will disappear.

NEW YORK WOMEN REGISTER.

Suffragists Use Military Census as Argument For Their Cause.

Women played a large part in the military census taken by volunteer workers in the state of New York. Every one, male or female, between the ages of eighteen and fifty was required to register and give the state all information which will be of military value. It was estimated that at least 3,000,000 persons would register.

The women were asked what training they had had in various fields, and they also acted as volunteer registrars. Suffragists are using this census as a good argument for their cause. The New York State Woman Suffrage party, of which Mrs. Norman del. White, house is chairman, has propounded the following queries:

Did your wife neglect your home or babies when she went to register in the recent military census?

Did she meet with any but courteous and respectful treatment from the men she saw there?

Did your family allow dissension and discord to take the place of quiet discussion when she was deciding what answers to make to the questions?

Did the government allow you to register for your wife and thus represent her in this important duty?

Did your wife feel less feminine, less womanly or less motherly for having registered?

PLOT TO WRECK TRAIN
FOILED BY FARMERS

Bridge Over River in Calumet District Is Burned.

Hammond, Ind., June 27.—Fire, believed to have been caused by German spies, left the Chicago, Indiana & Southern railroad bridge over the Iroquois river, near here, a tangled mass of half burned debris. The fire was started at night and did not burn itself out until daylight.

If the spies hoped to destroy any war supply trains they were disappointed, for farmers flashed news of the burning bridge to Hammond before the flames had gained half an hour's headway. Residents in the vicinity fought the flames by means of a bucket brigade, but their efforts were futile except that the approaches to the bridge were saved.

Warned by the farmers, officials of the road promptly arranged to detour all trains. Many New York Central war supply trains have been passing over this bridge, and it is supposed that the spies hoped that one of these would dash into the river and be destroyed. The war supply trains carry the products of the Calumet and Hammond regions.
